RURAL ADDRESSING SYSTEM: GENERAL RULES AND GUIDELINES

The rural addressing system is access based. Numbers increase going north and going west. Odd numbers are on the south side and east side of roads. Even numbers are on the north side and west side of roads.

Addresses are composed of:

- a reference road,
- an address access interval, and
- the road which access is off of.

ADDRESS ACCESS INTERVAL

There are 32 possible addresses per mile, 16 per side, at 100-meter intervals. Depending where your access falls in these intervals will dictate your address access interval.

REFERENCE ROAD

The reference road is the Township Road to the south, or the Range Road to the east.

ACCEPTABLE ABBREVIATIONS

Highway = Hwy

Range road = Rge Rd

Township road = Twp Rd

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS:

1. If two residences accesses are in the same 100-meter interval, access to the north or west has a letter designation
2. If two residences share once access, a number suffix will be added to the residence closest to the road as 1, second as 2, etc.
3. Subdivision addresses are referenced where the internal subdivision road accesses the County road. If there are more than one access, one access will be the primary access. Lots are numbered clockwise if possible. From the primary access, numbering starts at 1, the first internal side road is 100 block, second is 200, etc. Even numbers are assigned to residences on one side of the road, and odd numbers are on the other side.
